TORONTO TIDINGS

Mr. Robert M. Thomas, of Oakville, was in our midst on January 9th, and partook of the Lord's supper on that date.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Walker were in Hamilton, visiting relatives over the New Year holidays.

Mrs. Gerald P. O'Brien left towards the end of the old year for a few weeks, visiting her parental home in Peterboro, and at time of writing is still in the "Lift Lock City."

Mr. Norman Yeager, of Windsor dropped in unexpectedly upon his sister, Mrs. Nathaniel Neil, at Long Branch, in the early morning of January 9th, and then came here to see his old friends at our Church in the afternoon, before leaving that evening for Niagara Falls, where he is trying out a new job. Should it prove satisfactory, he may move his family to the "Cataract City."

Miss Pearl Herman is back again from a pleasant visit to her former home in Sterling.

Mr. Raymond Ford, of Humber Bay, who left the Belleville School three years ago, after receiving his education under the pure oral system, has now got work here and is trying to catch up with us in the mastery of the sign language, which he asserts is the greatest asset towards bringing happiness to his environments. We are doing our best in making him feel perfectly at home. There are scores of similar cases in this city, and it is a pity to behold their loneliness.

Mrs. Samuel Pugsley, who was removed from the hospital to her home on January 8th, is fast improving, and finding that the operation for cataract of her eyes is bringing good results. May she continue to improve.

Being unable to get a permanent situation just now, Mr. Walter Bell left on January 9th, for Oshawa, where he is working at the Canadian Motors, Ltd., of that city for a while, or until he is able to be placed on the job that has long been promised him here.

Miss Alma Brown, of Markdale, but who has been working in Orangeville for some time, has, we hear, secured a situation in a silk establishment here and we gladly welcome her.

Mr. Andrew Hazlett, a brother-in-law of Miss Ethel Griffith, who ran for Councillor in Forest Hill, came out not only victorious but led every one at the polls. Congratulations.

Mrs. Alex Buchan, Sr., who has been confined to her home for some time past with a cold and rheumatic trouble, was agreeably surprised and pleased to receive a call from quite a number of her friends on January 9th, who came to congratulate her on her natal day and to extend felicitations to her and Mr. Buchan on the occasion of their thirty-sixth wedding anniversary.

Mr. Fred Terrell, who has been bothered with a lame foot for some time past, has now recovered.

Miss Alma Hamilton has just returned from a two weeks' sojourn in the country with her deaf cousin, Miss Edith Gallinger, at the latter's parental home near Lisle, and reports a dandy time. While in Lisle, Alma called on our old friend, Mrs. William Phillips, whom she found doing well.

Glad to see Mr. R. S. Edwards around again, after his recent lay-up through illness.

At time of writing, we regret to say that Miss Clarke, sister of Mrs. J. D. Nasmith, is hovering between life and death. She has been a long sufferer from that incurable disease—cancer. She is well-known to the deaf here and was a frequent visitor at our meetings in other days.

We held our regular quarterly Holy Sacrament on January 9th, at which the Rev. Mr. Real preached a very touching sermon on how he came to love his Master and how we can obtain greater happiness by devoting our all to Christ. This minister is a very earnest pleader and his beautiful words, as translated in signs by Mrs. J. R. Byrne, came like a soothing balm to every heart. Mrs. F. E. Doyle rendered "Simply Trusting in the Lord."

The accident that befell Mrs. George

Wedderburn, on January 2d, was not so serious as first reported. Your scribe and Mrs. Roberts called at her home a few days after the accident, and were so delighted to find her in a cheery mood and able to move around, but she is wisely taking no risks, so is giving her bruised right shoulder the best of care. The mishap, which was purely accidental, happened at the intersection of Avenue Road and Dupont Street, when the car driven by her son was rammed by a street car. With the spirit of a true sport, Mrs. Wedderburn, though painfully hurt, took the trouble to herself philosophically and blamed no one for it. Such action as this most commendable.

Mrs. W. Wesley Scott left, on January 8th, for her old home in Wellandport for a few weeks' visit, and to help mother, who is not quite well.

The Epworth League meetings, on January 5th, and 12th, were both conducted by Mr. J. R. Byrne before a good-sized crowd on both occasions. On the latter date, Mr. Byrne gave a very enlightening address on the many dark clouds that obscure the path to Christian living and this is why many fail to see the true way to Christ. Many profess to be good Christians, but lack the qualifications to be such.

The first fortnightly meeting of the Bridges Club for 1927 took place on January 7th, and the jolly crowd, who were there, were treated to a very interesting and laugh provoking programme. No matter what the bill of fare may be, there will always be a good programme provided, as the committee and members are not going to leave a stone unturned to achieve this end. Instead of a prepared programme for future meetings, Chairman Roberts announced that a list of events would be given at the close of each gathering and every member would be given a right to select the one they wanted for the next meeting. This was heartily approved and a combined movie and joke giving entertainment was selected for the meeting on January 21st, followed by a love feast in the basement. Next came the selection of a "Ladies Committee." All the ladies present were nominated and each made a close run, but the following three nosed out to victory, Mesdames F. E. Harris, F. E. Doyle and W. R. Watt. After an exciting time, solving a mystery game invented by Mr. Chas. A. Elliott, all dispersed for the waiting arms of Morpheus.

THIRTY YEARS UNITED

Oh stop ye speeding moments and listen to this tale you have left in your wake. Looking back over this long span, we see you have been most lenient towards this happy couple, who, thirty long years ago, blushingly nodded "I will," as they took the oath to love, honor, and protect one another and set sail down the channel of matrimony.

Thirty years ago, on December 31st, 1896 Mr. Charles Golds, then a care free young Lochinvar of Paris, spied out, wooed and won that blushing young maiden, Miss Margaret Jane Watt, of Guelph, and eldest sister, of Mr. W. R. Watt, of Toronto. After their marriage they settled in Milton, but later moved to Hamilton, where they lived for a time and again moved away, this time to Georgetown, but not long afterwards went to live in Galt. Once more they were moving and made for New Hamburg, but finally tiring of this place, they bought a beautiful home on Weber Street, in Kitchener, where they have resided for the past sixteen years.

Their union has been blessed with more "Gold" in the form of five children, all now grown up. They are Margaret Charlotte, now Mrs. Frank E. Harris, of Toronto, Charles Watt Golds, of Vancouver, B. C., Pearl May, now Mrs. Wallace Silvenhorn, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., Miss Evelyn Rose Golds and William Robert Golds at home. Of these children, Mrs. Harris and Charles, Jr., are graduates of the Belleville school, the same school that their parents attended in the long ago. At Mr. and Mrs. Golds' wedding in Guelph three decades ago, the bride was attended by her sister, Mary Watt, now Mrs. Harvey Stevenson, of Hamilton, while Mr. William Golds, now of Bashaw Alberta was best man. They attended our first bible conference in Toronto, while on their honeymoon. To mark the 30th milestone of their married life, a jolly party was held at their home on December 29th last, when over two dozen of their deaf friends and relatives foregathered to make the occasion merry in a hundred and one ways. A feature of this event was the presence of a large wedding cake, coated over with silver balls in bold letters—"Thirty years." The cake was first cut by the bride of thirty years, who used a large knife, while her better half pried out the first piece with a large fork. Long may Mr. and Mrs. Golds live to enjoy the love and esteem of their large circle of friends. They were showered with linen this time.

GENERAL GLEANINGS

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smalldon and children have returned to their home in St. Thomas after a pleasant visit to relatives and friends in Detroit.

We have just heard of the death, which took place on November 5th last, of Mr. William Hammell, of Bradford, the aged and beloved father of Mrs. Nelson Wood, of Santa Barbara, California, known to her Belleville schoolmates as the pretty Henrietta Hammell, who was unable to come to his funeral on account of the great distance. We regret this notice was not in these columns sooner, but the writer was not aware of it until now. Mrs. Wood and other relatives have our deepest sympathy. The deceased had reached the 83d step in the ladder of this life when he hearkened to the call of the Voice in the Highest.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lennox, of Phelpsstone, were lately the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones, in Palgrave, and all four later went on a shopping trip to Bolton, and while in that town gave Miss Madeline Elliott. There was a very delightful "Watch Night" party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Lloyd, in Brantford, on December 31st.

In St. Thomas, on January 6th, there passed away, Mrs. James, the dearly beloved mother of Miss Ada James, of the Belleville School teaching staff, who ceased this life after a lingering illness in her 84th year. Besides her husband, she leaves three sons and two daughters to mourn her loss, and to whom we extend sincere condolence, especially to Miss Ada, who was always attentive and good to the deceased.

Miss Effie I. Henderson, of Montreal, who has been a subscriber to the JOURNAL for over two years, always looks for its arrival with great anticipation and reads the Canadian News first, and says the change from Clippings to News is far better. Miss Henderson anticipates coming on a visit to Toronto soon. She's most welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lennox, of Phelpsstone, and Miss Margaret Rea, of Barrie, spent Christmas most pleasantly with Mrs. William Phillips in Lisle.

We are pleased to say that the aged mother of Miss H. F. Chapman, of New Westminster, B. C., who has been very ill with influenza and pneumonia lately is much better now. Miss Chapman finds the news in the JOURNAL very interesting every week.

Miss May Cunningham, of the Mackay School of Montreal, was visiting her relatives in Oakville over the recent holidays, but we regret she did not call on any of her friends, while on her way to and fro.

Buffalo News.

To both Canadians and Americans, your attention is urgently solicited to take notice of this article, and that you are invited to suggest something novel to help in celebrating the formal opening of the Buffalo-Fort Erie, Ontario, Canada, Peace Bridge, now being constructed across the Niagara River. Provided that you are keenly interested in this project, there is not at least reason why we should not invigorate our spirit to voice for our further relations by making arrangements to get up either "Peace Outing or Peace Banquet" nearby the Peace Bridge. Do come out and act after you have read below:—

A great programme is now under way. So far as he can foresee, the President, accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge (one of our loyal and bosom friends) will be in this city about September 1st, to attend the formal opening of Buffalo-Fort Erie Peace Bridge. We understand that our President is particularly anxious to be in this city at that time to represent the United States Government, because in all probability Great Britain will have its representative, R. H. R., the Prince of Wales, while Canada will be represented by its Premier, W. H. King. Our Chief Executive was spoken as being keenly interested in the approaching celebration, which will consummate 100 years of peace between this country and Great Britain.

It is a most regrettable thing that neither the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, as well as Ontario Association of the Deaf, did not happen to foresee this great feature, which would mean an additional celebration between the United States and British Empire—a celebration of 100 years of peace.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Johncox were taken aback by surprise, but were pleased to tender their congratulations upon their recent marriage, which was announced to have taken place on the 30th of December, 1926, just in time to augment the record of marriages among the newly-wed couples, performed before New Year's marriage record was taken up. Mrs. Johncox was formerly Mrs. Mary Gay, who was deprived of her husband through pneumonia more than a couple of years ago, and has two fine sons, now domesticating with their grandmother. The bright couple is staying with the sister of bridegroom temporarily.

"What a grand time we had for many days!" their tone of words were re-echoed among the eighteen guests after the first social, given by Rev. and Mrs. Aug. H. Staubitz on the eighth of January. As the approval of creating a society of their own was signified, it was then decided to organize and name it as "Silent Endeavor Society," which was greeted with hearty cheers that stirred every guest greatly. Election of officers were subsequently functioned and will now be given out as follows: Mrs. Aug. H. Staubitz, President; Mrs. W. E. Davis, Vice-President; Mr. W. E. Davis, Secretary; Mr. Paul Tuttle, Treasurer; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Seely, Joint Chairmen of Social Committee. Eighteen members were taken into the roster, and it is believed that an increase of membership will shortly be made, as soon as the news of our organization is broadcasted. Prizes were awarded to the first and second winners, at the time of serving delicious refreshments. This society plans to hold outings at different places without any charges during the summer, and its further occurrences will be broached from time to time, so watch it grow!

One of our popular friends, Mr. Edward E. Schurr, of Clarence, N. Y., is now convalescing nicely from that serious accident which sprained one of his knees painfully, at the time of his working in the line of carpentry. He is one of the builders building a fine house for Mr. John Lesher, the parent of one of our highly talented ladies, Mrs. Frank E. Seely, as mentioned in this issue some time ago. Her husband, Frank, is showing his pride in the new house by passing the snapshots of it to his friends.

A farewell supper was tendered in honor of Mrs. Lawrence Samuelson, by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carl, on Saturday, the eighth of January. A number of their schoolmates and friends were invited. Mr. and Mrs. Carl were one time residents of Detroit, Mich., where they were popularized, and expressed their wish to be remembered by the brethren of both D. A. D. and N. F. S. D.

As it was announced that Dennis F. Norton, a brother of Mr. Patrick Norton, passed away. Mr. Norton has our profound sympathy over his bereavement. His charming wife is quite a comfort to him in every respect. In all circles, they are always sure to find a real welcome.

It was noticed when Mr. and Mrs. D. Newhouse ejaculated with joy, when they saw their staunch friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hallett, of Niagara Falls, enter the residence of Rev. and Mrs. Aug. H. Staubitz at the time of social gathering. Mr. Newhouse is working for our prosperous business man, Mr. John Conlon, in the line of dry-cleaning. Mr. Julius Hanemann is staying with Mr. and Mrs. D. Newhouse, and appears to be eased greatly, after such a sad loss he experienced.

BUFFALONIAN

ZENOISMS

The deaf who live longest are those who have too much sense to worry about scandalous sign-language and those who haven't sense enough to worry about romantic oralism.

Some principals seem to go on the theory that De l'Epee, Gallaudet and Clerc, did all the hard work of remembering the "Code of principles."

Look at those lovely girls. They were originally rejected as oral pupils. No, they are not as dumb as they look. Some of them couldn't be.

Differences of opinion make horse-races, as the saying goes. Differences of expressions certainly make the sign-language.

Possession of an institution is nine points of oralism's law and the principal's salary is the tenth.

Happily it is easier for a pure oral pupil to draw the line at the sign-language than it is for him not to step over it later.

Every week mentions a new phase in Chicago, but the most that never happens in its news column is original phrase.

Listen, oh friends! Christ never did the impossibility of giving speech to a deaf boy without first giving hearing to him.

As it struck us on reading a wartime poem in a magazine:—

Author of life!
Father of great and small!
Sovereign whose Sceptre rules the whirling worlds!
Hear now, we pray, a mute people's prayer,
And bid be still the harsh waves of oral war
Whose crescent tide o'erwhelms once free schools
Corroding with wrongs which, deep and unthought,
Cry out to Heaven.

Come in Thy might!
Come in Thy Righteous wrath!
Come in Thy panoply of power!
And loose Thy lightning round the lying councils,
And crumple up the boasted ring
And batter down the monstrous inselence
Of perjured teachers who claim, with shameless lips,
A league with Thee.

Come with Thy Light!
Come with Thy Torch of Truth!
Come with Thy wisdom infinite and sure!
And teach a groping and blind age to know

That in Thy plan the deaf-mute has a right
To learn and live, that Kings cannot deny.
Thist social need is not the only, not the test supreme
In intercourse of neighbor with neighbor.
But Understanding and the Common Good.

The Christmastide is come once more, and—
"Each age has deemed the new-born year
The fittest time for festal cheer."

One conclusion you should never jump at is the end of an ignorant deaf Swede's fist.

A genuine oralist is a woman who cannot unscrew her fountain pen without the help of a convention. ZENO.

Quite a lot of information about George Weinstein has been sent the JOURNAL, since publishing the letter from the Chief of Police of Lakewood, N. J. He has evidently been pursuing crooked work over quite a section of the United States. The following letter is from J. S. Weinstein:

Jan. 14, 1927.

Mr. Edwin A. Hodgson,

DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL:-

DEAR SIR: I have just read with interest your editorial concerning one George Weinstein. In this editorial you say that the name is evidently fictitious. George Weinstein is a deaf-mute of Philadelphia with residence in Atlantic City. I have personally seen several checks cashed by deaf of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington and also Virginia for the same fellow, which were no good. One of these checks, I think, is in the possession of Mr. George Sanders, of Philadelphia, and Mr. D. Ellis Lit.

It is about time this fellow was put behind the bars.

I am writing this as a means of self-protection as my name has frequently been misconnected with that of George Weinstein.

Yours truly,

J. S. WEINSTEIN.

Some of our readers have notified us that they have written to the Chief of Police of Lakewood, telling what their sad experience has been.

Information comes that he is now in prison, and in due time will be "on the rock pile" for quite a stretch.

The other crook that has been making himself obnoxious to the deaf on the Atlantic Coast has not been arrested. He seems to have stuck to the name of Abbott as a surname, but has given his first name variously as "Charles," "George," "Christie," etc.

About a year ago, Frats were warned against him as a passer of bad checks, but it is only lately that he has victimized people in New York and New Jersey. We are told he was active in Baltimore, until chased away.

His statement, which was published in the JOURNAL, that he had reformed and was "going straight," proved to be a sham repentance.

In mentioning that he went to school in West Virginia, we inadvertently printed the place as Staunton. It should have read Romney. Our friend Mr. Ritter put this error before our amazed optics, and it is accordingly set right before the public and we hope will placate the Virginians.

THE CAD

He who maligns an absent friend's fair name,
Who says no word for him when others blame,
Who courts a reckless laugh by random bits,
Just for the sake of ranking among wits,
Who feigns what he ne'er saw, a secret blab,
Beware him, Romans! that man steals or stabs.

Charles Chester Codman

In the death of Charles Chester Codman, on December 16th, 1926, Chicago lost one of its foremost deaf citizens. While he had lived almost the allotted span of years, having just entered his sixty-sixth year on December 11th, he was hale, hearty and active, and his zest in life and all that it had in store for him was undiminished to the end. His passing seemed such a tragedy and so altogether unnecessary that it made all the more poignant the grief felt by his host of friends in Chicago and throughout the country.

A slight operation on his right hand, performed December 1st, at South Side hospital, for the removal of a small cyst, resulted in septic poisoning, from which he died after a little over two weeks of terrible suffering.

The funeral on the 18th of December was one of the most largely attended within the memory of old-timers in Chicago. The services were conducted by the Reverend George F. Flick of All Angels' Episcopal Church, Chicago. Mrs. George T. Dougherty rendered "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and Washington Barrow "Nearer, My God, To Thee." The pallbearers were all old friends of the deceased: Dr. G. T. Dougherty, Messrs. B. F. Frank, F. W. Craig, H. M. Leiter, W. E. McGann and A. L. Roberts. Mr. George F. Morton, a life-long friend, was honorary pallbearer. Interment was in beautiful Rosehill Cemetery, in the family lot, beside the loved ones who had preceded. Only one member of his immediate family circle survives—Mrs. Lillian Codman Knoch, of Chicago.

Possessed of a sturdy, indomitable spirit, that had come down to him from hardy New England forebears and from more immediate pioneer ancestors of the Western frontier, Mr. Codman early in life proved himself a leader in affairs of the leaf. Born in the small frontier settlement of what is now La Salle, Illinois, a few miles southwest of Chicago, he came while still a child to what was later destined to be the metropolis of the Unsalted Seas, and grew up with the hustling, bustling city on the southern rim of Lake Michigan. The growth and history of Chicago were a part of his being, just as he was a part of Chicago. With the exception of a decade spent on his Montana ranch, where he displayed all the hardy and indomitable qualities of his pioneer ancestors, his entire life was identified with the history of Chicago and the activities of the Chicago leaf.

In the late seventies and early eighties of the last century, the deaf of America had few if any organizations of their own. Their clubs, their National and State organizations, and their church work still were largely in the womb of time, waiting for leaders to bring them into being. One of these leaders was our friend, who early recognized the desirability of forming social groups and organizations for the benefit of his fellow deaf. He was one of the founders of the Pas-a-Pas Club of Chicago, now soon to celebrate its fiftieth anniversary, and to the time of his death, he was one of the most active members in that organization. Those of middle age and older know the history of the Pas-a-Pas Club and the very great part it has played in the destinies of the Chicago deaf throughout the years extending down from World's Fair days. At different intervals, our friend served as president of the club, and on December 4th, preceding his death, he was again elected president, but did not live to assume the duties of office. As a tribute to his memory, the club has not elected a successor, but has designated an acting president to serve out the ensuing year.

Mr. Codman was also actively identified with the Silent Athletic Club of Chicago, having served that organization in the capacity of trustee for several years prior to his death. He was one of the recognized leaders in club affairs. On his return from the Montana sojourn some years ago, both the Pas-a-Pas and the Silent Athletic Clubs conferred honorary membership upon him in recognition of his services. He was glad to accept the honor as a tribute from his fellow deaf, but he insisted nevertheless in paying his dues on the same basis as other members, disdaining to be what he termed a "dead head."

In the larger affairs of the deaf in the State and country, Mr. Codman also bore an active and responsible part up to the time of his death. He was a member of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, and served as delegate of Chicago Division No. 1 to the St. Paul convention of the Grand Division in 1924. At the time of his death, he was president of the Alumni Association of the Illinois State School for the Deaf, and president of the Chicago Branch of the National Association of the Deaf. He was also a member of the Traffic Bureau of the National Association of the Deaf, and was serving as Illinois representative of the Bureau in seeking to prevent unjust automobile regulations affecting the deaf in Chicago and the State. Endowed with sympathies, possessing an unbounded interest in all that went to make up the lives of his fellow deaf, manifesting strong likes and dislikes, and maintaining always a hatred for sham and charlatanism, our friend in his various activities naturally made strong and influential friends, and at the same time active and unrelenting enemies. No man with a long public career such as his could escape treading on the toes of the envious and self-seeking, no more than a man of his strong convictions could forebear from challenging that which he believed to be wrong and injurious to the deaf as a class. It may be said to his credit as a man that he never gave up a crusade once it was undertaken, and he never shirked his full responsibility in a battle for a cause that he believed to be right. He was a fighter, with the ability to confound his opponents. He was of that generation of the deaf now one by one passing from life's stage, the generation that has produced many illustrious names and brought forth many mighty leaders; and one must pause a while and consider whether the incoming generation will produce their like again.

Our friend rests in peace: "After life's fitful fever, he sleeps well." The turmoil and the strife, the triumphs and the defeats, are no longer his. To the newer generation the same problems and the same endeavors will present themselves, but in different guise. May they be equal to the task, and may they display the same brave and sane qualities that have distinguished our friend in life and those who are passing away with him.

FANWOOD.

On Saturday afternoon, January 15th, the Fanwood players and our coach were invited to ride in an auto-bus to Yonkers, N. Y., and there was an exciting basketball game between Leake and Watts and Fanwood quintets on the former's floor. In the first half, the Leake and Watts' score was continuously increased to 18 points, while our team shot the ball wildly, their score being 9 points. But in the second half, the Fanwood players improved and they made excellent passes, but they found it difficult to make many goals, because of their opponent's mighty defenses.

Three minutes before the end of the game, John Kostyk, acting captain, was forced to leave the court, because of an injured ankle. The Leake and Watts team squashed us to the tune of 30-21.

The summary were:

Another basket-ball game was played with the Stony Brook, L. I., team on Saturday evening, the 22d of January. Our team won by the score of 27 to 22. The stars of this game were John Kostyk, William Kahn and George Lynch.

Mrs. William Gibbs, of Rochester, N. Y., visited here with her niece, Mrs. Pangburn, who understands the manual alphabet. The former was educated here.

Miss Kate Currier, a retired teacher, took a very pleasant trip to Europe last Autumn. She sent postcards to four cadets from Nice, France. She intends to start for Japan, after remaining in Italy for six weeks.

The entire pupillage assembled in the chapel on the afternoon of Friday. Dr. Fox delivered an interesting lecture. He warned us to look before we cross the street, and we must not talk while crossing.

Mr. Forrester, principal, of the Rochester School for the Deaf, paid us a brief visit. Principal Gardner was his guide. Mrs. Greene, a teacher at Rochester, N. Y., was also here.

Before the Fanwood Literary Association in the chapel, a lecture was given by Professor Iles, entitled "What ails Mexico and Nicaragua?" on Thursday evening, the 20th of January. The pupils now understand what ails Mexico and Nicaragua.

Cadet Corporal Milton Koplowitz has returned to school from a hospital in Brooklyn, N. Y., after the successful operation on his tonsils.

Mr. William Jones enjoyed another visit here on Tuesday, January 18th. So also did Miss Townsend, one of our retired teachers.

On Friday, January 21st, the Barrager Basket Ball Team journeyed to Trenton in a De Luxe Bus, from the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, and played with and swamped the New Jersey School for Deaf team by the score of 28-18. The game was fast and clean.

The combination of "Lightning" Wood and "Brainy" Tichenor was too much for the Trenton guards. Miss Wood made seven field goals and Miss Tichenor, five.

Captain Siegel and "Promising" Christoffer were the only ones who were kind enough to pass balls to the forwards all the time—that's how they won the game. "Veteran" Rosengreen and "Newly" Peterson were the guards who let the Trenton forwards try for only eight fields goals.

Miss Ognihene, of Trenton, was the only star. She made six field goals for her team.

Gallaudet College

Being convinced that the students have not been receiving adequate physical development from the present system of calisthenics, Norman G. Scarvie, '27, with true Viking initiative, got busy and founded a special class, "Turnverein," as it is called by its members. This club has been in existence for nearly a month and is getting results in the way of the ruddy healthiness of the Turnverein fellows. The daily routine of the class consists of tumbling, parallel-bars exercises, vaulting-horse stunts, and other physical exercises.

Sunday evening, Professor V. O. Skyberg gave a chapel talk, entitled "Follow Me," which would have done a minister credit to have delivered it. It was a discussion of the wonderful personality Jesus Christ must have had, in order to have prevailed upon his disciples to throw down their work and to follow him. Then followed a dissertation as to what the Saviour meant by "Follow me," in which Professor Skyberg explained that he meant that his disciples were asked to follow him as regards their daily actions and thinking and preaching.

In a classroom lecture to the Sophomore Class in Physics, Professor Isaac Allison came across with this interesting bit of information—the very first telegraph message in the world was flashed over Kendall Green. In 1844, Samuel Morse's invention was put to an actual test, that of the transmittance of sound over a 30-mile stretch of wire strung on trees—in those days telegraph poles were unknown—from Washington, D. C., to Baltimore, Md. Amos G. Kendall, the philanthropic owner of this beautiful spot in the District of Columbia, kindly consented to the use of his trees for this experiment, which later on, as everybody now realizes, proved to be of the greatest scientific value imaginable. Aided by a little imagination, one can conjure up the sight of a wire strung on the trees that are, in all probability, still standing on our campus, and the phenomenon of the first message flashing along that wire.

The Interclass Mollicoddle Basketball Tourney was launched with a flourish Saturday evening, January 22d, with a double-header, in which the Sophomores fought a rather one-sided battle with the Juniors, and the Seniors tested their own mettle against the Preps. The Sophomores won without any trouble, registering a 38-12 victory, but the Seniors won only after an hour of furious playing, finally rolling up the bigger end of a 20-13 score before the final whistle blew.

This tournament promises to be a bonanza of amusement and excitement for the College Hall sport-lovers, for there are four teams bidding for the interclass championship, to wit, the Seniors, the Sophomores, the Freshmen, and the Preps. From the sideline, to which the correspondent seems to be doomed on account of his puny size, it appears that the Seniors and the Freshmen have more than a slim chance each of forging ahead of the others.

From all indications, Calamity has not yet let go her hold on Kendall Green. Harry Coene, P. C., was called home recently on account of serious illness on his father's part. It is rumored that he will not, to our regret, return, as he has to fill his father's shoes as the support of his family. A similar fate is also the lot of one of our most popular Juniors, Sulo Alto, who is forced to give up all hopes of continuing his studies here at Kendall Green, because of the failing health of his father.

ENDS GALLAUDET'S WINNING STREAK

In a sad and disheartening game on our court, the Blue Ridge cagemen ran circles around our bewildered men and swept them off the floor with the crushing score of 51-21.

From the beginning to the end, the usually speedy Buff and Blue basketballs played as if in a trance, from which they occasionally emerged only, to sink back into their mental fog. Their passing was erratic and uncertain, while that of the visitors was snappy and painfully accurate. Up to then the sharpshooting of our star forwards, Cosgrove and Dyer, was a thing to be feared by our opponents, but on the fateful night of January 21st they did not make good on numerous tries, while the Mountaineers shot baskets from practically every angle. Most of the visitors, if not all of them, succeeded in sinking baskets, while only a few of our men came near doing so.

The Blue Ridge quintet was literally chased out of town by Catholic University, on their visit to this city some weeks ago. As we made a rather good showing against the Brooklanders, the score being 59 to 43, we figured that we would have more than a chance to beat Blue Ridge, but we know now there is not such thing as mathematical calculations in sports, where Dame Fortune regins supreme.

The Blue Ridge tossers started away like a whirlwind and dropped the ball through the hoop before the Kendall Greens even knew the ball was in play. Cosgrove and Dyer retaliated by sharing between themselves six two-markers before the end of the first half, which were to no avail, for by superior passing and shooting, the lanky Mountaineers had rolled up a lead of twelve points, which they swelled to thirty in the second half.

The line-up and summary are as follows:

PHILADELPHIA

The Rev. Warren M. Smaltz was the chief speaker before the Clerc Literary Association on Thursday evening, January 20th. He handed out a "pot-pourri" of current events of the day, which was relished by those in attendance.

On Sunday, January 23d, Bishop A. T. Wood, substituting for Bishop Garland, visited All Souls' Church for the Deaf and administered the Rite of Confirmation at Grace Pearl, a blind inmate of the Torresdale Home for Blind Aged and Infirm Deaf. With the Bishop in the chancel were Rev. James McIlhenny and the Pastor of All Souls'. The Bishop preached the sermon and Mr. Joseph Lipsett interpreted it in signs.

Mr. William A. Renner, of New York, who, we believe, has succeeded to Mr. Capelli's place in the JOURNAL office, came over to Philadelphia with the Fanwood Basketball team to see some of the sights here last Saturday afternoon. The team returned home in the evening, but Mr. Renner remained overnight as the guest of Mr. Charles Ford. He returned to New York on Sunday night.

Mr. Michael Weidman, of Manchester, near York, Pa., who is employed on a large farm, was saved from being seriously crushed by the manure wagon he was driving, when the mules balked, by the timely assistance of a fellow-laborer. The accident happened on December 23d, compelling him to lay off for some time while receiving medical treatment.

Did you ever take account of how many minutes you spent or covered in your span of life up to your last birthday? By counting full day's time (the hour of birth being unknown) Mr. Reider found that on January 22d, 1927, he had spent a total of 32,589,200 minutes of life. That was in how many years? Those who are clever at figures can easily find out Mr. Reider's age now.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rubin on December 21st, 1926. Mr. Rubin is President of the Beth Israel Association of the Deaf.

Remember the Charity Ball under the auspices of the Philadelphia Local Branch, P. S. A. D., on next February 19th.

Mr. McGhee is slowly recovering from his recent illness.

Mr. William F. Irvin, of Callingswoods N. J., who received a stroke of partial paralysis last summer, continues in about the same condition. She formerly lived in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Sarah Scott, widow of the late Herbert Scott, has long been a sufferer from a stroke of partial paralysis which confines her to bed. Her condition seems anything but improving.

The operation of a multitude of busses between this city and Camden and other places over the Delaware River bridge, makes the places seem so much closer to each other and a very decided convenience to those who daily pass between them.

If a man meets with injustice, it is not required that he shall not be roused to meet it; but if he is angry after he has had time to think about it, that is sinful. The flame is not wrong, but the coals are.—Beecher.

We are not sent into this world to do anything into which we cannot put in our hearts. We have certain work to do for our bread and that is to be done strenuously; other work to do for our delight and that is to be done heartily; neither is to be done by halves or shifts but with a will; and what is not worth this effort is not to be done at all.—John Ruskin.

PITTSBURGH.

Rev. F. C. Smielau made his regular monthly visit to our city on the 16th and was greeted by an enthusiastic congregation of seventy at Trinity Chapel. Before the sermon he gave some details of his election by the Province of the Midwest to succeed the late Rev. Mr. C. W. Charles and said he was still thinking seriously of accepting the "call." There is no one in this great state of ours who does not realize how much we have been helped by the missionary the past twenty-five years. We would hate to see him leave us and are confident the movement which has already been started will be successful and eventually induce him to remain with us.

For his sermon he gave an outline of the Bishops' Crusade which is a call to all Christian people for renewed allegiance to Christ and the Church. He told the story of Christ's first visit to Jerusalem at the age of twelve when He answered the chiding of his mother that "He must be about his Father's business" and exhorted us to give more serious consideration to the moral and spiritual side of our lives.

St. Margaret's Mission held its annual business meeting Monday evening, the 17th. The attendance was the largest in the history of the Mission. The sermon of the previous evening seemed to have stirred up the members. They voted unanimously to double the

NEW YORK.

News items for this column should be sent direct to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, Station M, New York.

A few words of information in a letter or postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

St. Anns' Church is always able to hold its own. Old Boreas came out of the north with a swirling snowstorm on Saturday evening, the 15th, and despite the fact that the local Frats were holding their annual banquet and another club had a dance, a good-sized crowd filled the church auditorium to see the vaudeville show staged by the Woman's Parish Aid Society, with the best amateur talent they had. The program was as follows:

Ballet.....Doris Patterson
Russian Dance.....R. McCarthy
Song.....Wanda Burke
The Massage Parlor
Miss Judge and Mrs. McClusky
America.....Mrs. Lieberz
Tango Specialty
Doris Patterson and R. McCarthy
Song.....Wanda Burke
The Movie Studio. (Comedy)
President, W. G. Jones; Clerk, J. H. Kent; Director, W. A. Renner.
Film Stars—French, Alice Judge; Spanish, Eleanor Sherman; Apache, Florence Armstrong; Village belle, Johanna McClusky; Flapper, Margaret Davey; Irish, Elsie Schwing; Swedish, Maybelle Lieberz; Vamp, Wanda Burke.

The songs and dances were up to the usual excellent standard. Mention should be made of the graceful dancing of Doris Patterson and Mr. McCarthy, who seem to improve with each appearance on the stage. "The Massage Parlor," with Mrs. McClusky and Miss Judge, as comedienne, brought forth much laughter. "The Movie Studio" was another comedy skit. W. A. Renner and J. H. Kent, having formed a partnership, advertised for film stars. They got a house full, and insisted on a test acting of the emotions of love, hate and whatever specialty the applicant had. They all let loose. Whether it was good, bad, mediocre or what not, made no difference, as it was all in the play.

The ladies of the Aid Society can dress up for their parts to perfection and they all made decided hits. Louisa Fazenda had better watch Flo Armstrong, and Mabel Normand can get points from Marg Davey. Ellie Sherman outshone Raquel Mueller without doubt, while Alice Judge had Mme. Sorrel eclipsed. Joey McClusky could teach Mary Pickford a few things about ingenue roles, and Alice Terry should see how easily Elsie Schwing moved everyone to tears. Anna Nilssen fades beside to our own Maybelle Lieberz and as for Wanda Burke, she was more glorious than Gloria Swanson. Oh! yes, J. Kent and W. Renner were somewhere on the stage all the time.

An old man with immense reddish top hat and long flowing white whiskers; an insufferable pest, shoed away by everyone, was W. G. Jones. He turned out, in the end, to be president of the concern, and all went after him to sign contracts. It was planned that he should reappear on the stage with the pack in full cry, but he tripped on the doorway and made his entree full headlong; then did not promptly rise. Happily it was not a real tragedy, only the big hat got jammed down over his head, and in the tangle of whiskers he could not see. So when the old gent was hauled to his feet again, none the worse for his sudden plunge into the movie business, the curtain was rung down on another very enjoyable and successful vaudeville show, under auspices of the Woman's Parish Aid Society of St. Ann's Church.

THE H. A. D. CHARITY BALL.

The Hebrew Association of the Deaf, Inc., held its Charity Ball at Odd Fellows' Hall, 301 Shermerhorn Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., on Saturday evening, January 22d, 1927.

Although the weather was far from pleasant, it having been the fifth day of the rainy kind, the attendance considering this, was over the 500 mark, consequently, the Association came out several hundred to the good on the affair, as they issued a 16-page souvenir journal in connection with the ball, which was embellished by some of the leading firms of our city as well as complimentary space taken by politicians and office holders, who interested themselves in the cause.

"This year its annual event comes in the form of a Charity Ball—the proceeds of which will be used to great advantage by the Association—to help its needy members to help themselves.

The Association at present is hard pressed for want of financial support. The year 1926 had been a financial failure, owing to circumstances over which the Association had no control.

"The nature of work for which the Association is devoted almost exclusively embraces that of religion. Social work comes in naturally, such as cemetery, educational and entertainment; a great deal of money has been spent in purchasing a large burial plot in Mount Carmel Cemetery. Future developments in every way beneficial to the Association are constantly planned with deliberate caution and forethought. Co-operation must therefore be urgently solicited in order to enable the Association to obtain ends it seeks; its consecration must not be in vain."

The music was by the Carroll Fidelity Orchestra, and consisted of two parts, nine in each part.

During intermission the famous juggler Clark gave a creditable performance. This man has been seen at other deaf-mute affairs, and it seems that like aged wine he improves with his act each time. He kept all interested and was accorded a round of applause at the close, so he added a few new tricks, which too were greatly enjoyed by one and all.

There was to be two other performers, but they failed to make an appearance.

The elite of the Jewish deaf were present, but the majority of those present represented the young element, many out of school only a few years, and how they could dance almost took one's breath away.

Taken all in all, it was a fine affair, and those who attended had their money's worth and at the same time helped a worthy charity.

The various committees were as follows:—

Arrangement Committee—Jack M. Ebin, Chairman; Samuel Frankenheim, Vice-Chairman; A. A. Cohn, Treasurer; Sol. Garson, Adv. Manager; Emil Mulfeld, Ticket Agent; Norman Magnus, Jos. Goldstein. Floor Committee—Louis Uhlberg, Manager; Max Miller, Sol. E. Pachter, Max M. Lubin, Benjamin Mintz, Nathan Schwartz, M. Weinberger. Reception Committee—Mrs. M. W. Loew, Chairman; Mrs. Sol. Garson, Mrs. Nathan Schwartz, Mrs. Max Miller, Mrs. Emil Mulfeld, Miss Mary Hornstein, Miss I. ena Stoloff, Miss Rose Wax, Miss Bertha Kranzer.

The officers of the Hebrew Association of the Deaf consists of the following: Charles Sussman, President; Mrs. A. A. Cohn, First Vice-President; Ludwig Fischer, Second Vice-President; Nathan Schwartz, Secretary; Jacob Friedman, Treasurer; Jack M. Ebin, Mrs. Henry Plapinger, Max Miller, Trustees.

The following are the gentlemen who founded the organization, which today has on its rolls over 200 members. Of the seven, three have since died. The surviving members, Messrs. Marcus L. Kenner, Samuel Frankenheim, and Emanuel Souweine were present, the only absentee was Mr. Emil Basch, who owing to bad weather and the state of his health thought it best not to attend, but he contributed to the success of the affair.

Those who numbered among the founders, and have since departed are: Messrs. Theodore A. Froehlich, Moses Heyman and Jacques Loew.

Last Saturday night, January 15th featured the reception and social given by the Silent Owl Association, at Johnson Building, Brooklyn, N. Y., and the attendance was pretty good, though the big storm was a great hindrance to the growth of the crowd and kept many outsiders prisoners by their fireplaces.

The features of the affair were the Milk Drinking and Gingereale Drinking Contests, the Charleston Contest and Beauty Contest. The winner of the Milk Drinking Contest was Miss Anna Trambazzo; Mr. Anthony Russo, the winner of the Gingereale Drinking Contest; and fortunately, Miss Agnes Di Nuovo was the winner of both Charleston and Beauty Contests. The prizes were awarded to them. In a fact, there was a fair success for the Silent Owl Association at the first public affair.

The Brownsville Silent Athletic Club will tender its second annual Basket Ball and Dance, which will be held at the Hebrew Educational Society, Sutter and Hopkinson Avenues, Brooklyn, N. Y., on Saturday evening, January 29th, at 7:30 p. m. Music will be served by the Jazzland Syncopators.

Two big loving cups will be awarded for two champion games of basketball. The first game will be played between the Margraf Boys and the Houston Athletic Club (both of New York City), and the second game, the Bronx Division, No. 92, N. F. S. D., and the Brownsville Silent Athletic Club.

Mr. Mayer Oppenheim is leader of the Brownsville Silent Athletic Club, with seven members—M. Forman, L. Rosensweet, P. Connors, W. Schurman, L. Bayarsky, Horowitz and N. Rosensweet, manager of B. S. A. C. The admission is fifty-five (55) cents.

Mr. Henry P. Crutcher, on account of ill-health, has resigned his position in Elizabeth, and left last week to spend the winter in Asheville, N. C. He will visit friends en route at Trenton, Philadelphia and Washington.

As the time draws near, so many are asking why Brooklyn Division has been so quiet in regards to its plans for its coming ball which will be held at Imperial Hall, next Saturday (February 5th) 1927.

This affair will mark No. 18, on the list for Brooklyn Division and each masquerade affair previously held was a success both socially and financially, and we are counting on our many friends to help us add this affair to our long list.

As in the past, this Ball will also be a masquerade affair. There will be $100 in cash prizes for the costumes and no doubt many will try hard to win one of them.

Imperial Hall is easily reached from any point in Greater New York or New Jersey. All subway trains stop at Borough Hall, Brooklyn, and that is where The Imperial is located. Its blazing lights are easily distinguishable after leaving the subway.

Ehnes Band will furnish the music and we know if your hearing friends accompany you, they will be delighted. The dance floor will be roped off, so those wishing to "trip" can enjoy themselves.

The marriage of Miss Rosemary Pickering, of New Bedford, Mass., to Mr. Harry S. Lewis, of Yonkers, N. Y., took place in the "Little Church Around the Corner," New York City, Tuesday, January 18th, Rev. Mr. Alford, officiating in presence of three witnesses, Mrs. Lydia Richardson, of Providence, R. I., her daughter, Mrs. Anty, of Richmond Hill, L. I., and Mrs. Charles D. Childs, of New Bedford, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis went on an eight days' tour to Bermuda, and upon return will make their home in Yonkers, where the former has resided for the past twenty-two years.

A surprise birthday party was given to Mrs. McCullough, at her home on January 9th. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Kansriddle, Mr. and Mrs. M. Newfeld, Mrs. J. Unger, Miss M. Branfuhr, Messrs. J. O'Brien, Max Spritz, Poorman, and R. Laing. There were games and dancing until midnight.

Miss Ida L. Frank, of Lakewood, N. J., hopes that she will meet many of her friends at the Newark Ball on January 29th, and will bring as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Julius J. Byck, of Tannersville, N. Y., who now reside in Lakewood for the winter months.

The Brooklyn Guild of Deaf-Mutes will have an apron and necktie party at St. Mark's Church, 230 Adelphi Street, Saturday evening, January 29th.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dickerson, of Boston, are visiting friends in New York. Mr. Dickerson has been quite ill, but is now on the mend.

Miss Tuck came from Hartford, Ct., to be present at the wedding of Rev. G. C. Braddock to Miss Maxwell. They were collegemates at Gallaudet.

Max Miller is confined to his bed with some malady not yet determined.

ATTENTION! Alumnae and O. W. L. S.

At the convalee held at the home of Mr. Percival Hall on Kendall Green, August 13th, 1926, it was announced that our first Scholarship Fund had gone over the top. We voted to raise a second fund. Mrs. Ota Blankenship has graciously consented to continue as Chairman.

Our first fund is now a reality. It is helping a deserving O. W. L. at Gallaudet College this year. This is a worthy cause. Come Sister O. W. L. S.; let us put our shoulder to the wheel and bring the second fund into being.

Every little bit helps! Send your mite to Miss Elizabeth Peet, Treas., Kendall Green, Washington, D. C.

The revised edition of the by-laws is now on the press and I hope to have them ready for distribution very soon. Greeting and best wishes for a very prosperous year.

HELEN W. PENCE, '24, President. January 21, 1927.

DEATH OF PRESTON L. STEVENSON.

The sudden death of Preston L. Stevenson came as a severe blow not only to the stricken widow and son, but to a large number of friends who knew him by his winsome ways and lovely disposition. We remember so far that he entertained us several times with his tricks in magic at the Ohio Scaool for the Deaf in early years.

Funeral services over the remains of Preston L. Stevenson, 67, former deputy recorder of Hardin County, who passed away immediately after a severe heart attack yesterday at his home in Findlay, will be held Friday afternoon, at two o'clock, from the Barnhart Funeral Home, that city.

Mr. Stevenson was well-known in Hardin County, having lived in Kenton for some time, and for several years serving as deputy county recorder under his brother, the late W. W. Stevenson. At the time of his death he was entering on his 41st year as Recorder of Hancock County.

He was considered a personal friend of hundreds of Kenton and Hardin County people. They recognized him as a man of implicit integrity and staunch character.

Mr. Stevenson had attained a goodly measure of fame as a magician, being a member of the International Brotherhood of Magicians, whose convention was held in this city last year. He was a close friend of W. W. Durbin, local manufacturer.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Ida Stevenson; one son, Emery, of Columbus; and three sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Smith, of this city; Mrs. Jennie Littler, of Long Beach, Cal.; and Mrs. Margaret Pratt, of Springfield. Two brothers, W. W. and B. S. Stevenson, preceded him in death.—Kenton, Ohio, News Republican, Jan. 19.

Mrs. Peter Schat and babe son, Wilbur Richard, have returned home after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Bush, of Chicago, for the past three months. The child, Wilbur Richard Schat, was baptized Sunday, December 26th, at All Angels' Mission in the chapel of Grace Church in Chicago, by Rev. George F. Flick. Three persons were witnesses at the baptismal service, C. S. Boggs, Goodyear machinist, who has been off duty for the past week on account of a fall on the icy street, is much better and able to be at work again.

Miss Clara Wickersham has gone to Indianapolis, Ind., where she has secured a position at the school for the deaf.

William Egan, a resident of the Ohio Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf, near Westerville, has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Margaret Egan, the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Pittman are the proud parents of a ten-pound son, born to them the past week, the mother being formerly Lena Lenz, of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. James C. McDowell spent the holiday season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ream, of Youngstown.

Mrs. Alert Simpson is spending some time in Omaha, Neb. She was called there to attend the funeral of her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dille have returned home, after spending the Christmas vacation at the home of Mr. Dille's parents at Bartlett.

Alfred E. Diot, of Massachusetts, has gone to Toledo for his future employment after working at Good-year about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston J. Myers are the parents of an eight-pound son, born Tuesday, December 28th. Mrs. Myers was formerly Lois Phillips.

I. M. Robinson has returned home, after being the Christmas and New Year's guest of his wife and son, who are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Schmidt at Grant, Fla. He states the weather has been perfect so far down there.

Samuel Smith is gradually recovering from a painful injury to his hand at Goodyear.

A chicken supper and watch night party, given under the auspices of the Silent Bible Class, of the E. Market St. Church of Christ, at the church, Friday evening, December 31st, proved to be a notable success. The supper was in general charge of Mrs. F. P. Burt, and Martin Stelzer did all the cooking. The following composed the assistants: Mrs. Russel Shannon, Mrs. Bert N. Hardwick, Mrs. Emil Hladick, Mrs. L. C. Osborne, Mrs. Isaac Phillips, Miss Hazel Powell, Jay Brown and Pat Toomey. There was a large attendance for the supper, for which an attractive menu was provided.

After the supper Russell Shannon, chairman of the committee, furnished an excellent entertainment of plays by William Pfunder, Russell Shannon, Sam D. Stakley, Louie M. Davis and Miss Ella Berry, who handled their parts skillfully. Following the entertainment, many games and a social time were enjoyed until the new year began, when wishing each other a Happy New Year the guests left for their homes. A merry company of friends, numbering 22, gathered at the home of W. J. Kuntz, Saturday evening to pay Herman L. Kohn a visit on his birthday. An oyster stew supper and many games were enjoyed by all. Fourteen prizes went to the winners. Mr. Kohn received many gifts.

John Ekert, of New Philadelphia, is stopping at the home of John T. Leopard, for a period of time. Paul Wickersham, being laid off in East Akron, left Thursday for Franklin, Ind., where he will spend the remainder of the winter on his father's farm.

Ley Goldstick, of Detroit, is in East Akron for a few days' stay with friends.

Some improvements are being made to the property of M. P. Dolan near Canton Road. Michael Gormly does the carpentry and painting. A son was born at City Hospital recently to Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Roller.

AKRONITE

Portland, Oregon.

The Wild Rose Club and their young friends had an all-night party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Cooke, on New Year's Eve.

In honor of Mrs. Woolsey's birthday, New Year's Eve, an all-night party was given at her home.

Another all-night party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Young, New Year's Eve. It was a nice treat to Mr. Young, who, on account of his crippled condition, cannot go out often.

The Christmas Party on Saturday night, December 25th, was will attended, but the Seattle deaf failed to come. The weather was warm, so the Portland deaf were disappointed because not one showed up. So no big bowling games were played between the two cities.

Mrs. H. P. Nelson had the pleasure of a visit from her sister, Mrs. M. P. Marshall, accompanied by her husband and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pickett, of Tacoma, Wash., were visitors in Portland recently, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Spielger. The latter is a sister of Mr. Pickett. Mr. Pickett left for his home after a week's visit, but Mrs. Pickett stayed a little longer. Mr. Pickett was formerly a Portland boy and a graduate of the Salem, Ore., deaf school.

The Hope Lutheran Church for the Deaf elected new officers for 1927. Mr. Rudy Spielger was elected President, Mr. B. Gannon, Vice-President; Mr. W. F. Cooke, Treasurer, and Rev. E. Eickmann as Secretary.

Portland deaf are sorry to learn of Mrs. Hans Scott's serious illness. Mrs. Scott has been to California a couple of times for her health, but is rapidly losing strength.

Mrs. Anthony Kautz got perhaps one of the finest presents for Christmas ever given a deaf person in Portland. The present was a fine Buick sedan from her husband.

The S. F. Club will open their 1927 monthly luncheon at the home of Mrs. A. Kautz. The hostesses are Mrs. Kautz, Mrs. J. O. Reichle, Mrs. Bud Hastings and Mrs. M. Barthlow.

Miss Ethel Morton left for Tacoma, Wash., to visit relatives there.

Mr. J. Jorg, with the help of Mr. Harris, has built a garage at his little tract of land at West Ruby Junction, and will soon buy a car. Mrs. Jorg has already learned to drive.

Portland had the pleasure of a visit from Mr. Robert C. Miller, of Seattle, Wash. He took in the Frat meeting Saturday night, January 8th, and spoke well of the Portland, Division 41, upon its work in securing between 40 to 45 members in one year, or a little more.

H. P. NELSON.

Jan. 10, 1927.

The Philadelphia Record, January 15th, reported the following:—

The Philadelphia League for the Hard of Hearing will open its Non-Sectarian Bible Class, Sunday, January 23d, at 3 p.m., with Marion Witter, of the Philadelphia Bible School, as teacher in charge.

A talk on the Pueblo Indians was given at the League House, by D. Ellis Lit, last Wednesday afternoon, and Dr. Douglas Macfarlan, who perhaps knows more about hearing aids than anybody in the country, gave a most interesting lecture on the latest hearing devices, at 4 o'clock, on the afternoon on January 11th.

The members of the Philadelphia League are almost in every case hard of hearing, and many are so entirely deafened that they "hear" only by lip-reading. Lessons and practice in the latter are given by qualified and graduated teachers at the free instruction classes to all deafened persons who are unable to pay for private instruction in Philadelphia and vicinity.

CHICAGO.

The Governor gave crisp command, And with a staid salute Our Colonel left the happy land Where long he taught the mute, From gentle Jacksonville "right face"—As only soldiers can. What "educator" took his place? Another Army Man!

Col. Oscar C. Smith, commanding officer of the Illinois State School for the Deaf, located in Jacksonville, will exchange places February 1st, with Major John W. Reig, head of the State Soldiers and Sailors Home at Quincy. Major Reig was appointed to the management of the Home at Quincy eight years ago by former Gov. Lowden."

—Press report.

For once, we deaf have been able to secure the removal of a state school head who has incurred our displeasure! Let that fact be enrolled on the imperishable archives of history.

Col. Oscar C. Smith, gassed and wounded, leading his troops in the Argonne—a self-educated small-town lawyer who rose from the coal mines to a position of prominence by sheer bull-dog determination—has been removed. He was also a veteran of the Spanish War, and a strong politician.

The history of the case is well worth reviewing. After two decades of spineless management, during which the Illinois school slid from a proud position near the top of American schools for the deaf, to a place very near the bottom, Superintendent Charles Gillett left in 1920, or so. He was succeeded by White, a practical educator for some normal school—utterly without experience in teaching the deaf. White amazed everybody by buckling to the job like a veteran, and in a few months had the school well on the road upwards. Supt. White was suddenly dismissed to make a place for a political supporter of Gov. Len Small—Col. Oscar C. Smith.

Realizing he was incompetent to "teach the deaf," Col. Smith wisely left the entire scholastic regulation to his various principals; and, assuming the title of "commanding officer," devoted himself to the administration end. He weeded a lot of dead timber out of the faculty; engaged the famous Fred Fancher as bandmaster; and launched into a praiseworthy policy of publicity which brought the school favorably before the public eye.

In many respects Col. Smith deserved high praise. Under his management Illinois again came up near the top of American schools for the deaf; and Illinois boys and girls again began flocking to Gallaudet College.

The storm clouds threatened to break at last June's alumni association convention, when retiring president Mrs. J. Frederick Meagher said in her official address: "There are many points to commend in the management of Col. Smith. But it is patent that something is wrong. Judging by the poor output, and complaints of the youngsters, who leave school before finishing their courses. This deserves to be looked into." But the storm held off until mid-fall, then fell in sudden fury, when Col. Smith fired the venerable veteran editor of the school magazine—W. S. Camp.

Now press is power—though you can't convince a lot of Chicago's deaf individuals that such is the case. Camp had cordial relations with hearing newspapermen—he is a hearing man himself. Newspapermen have a certain clannish feeling, you understand. They will print stuff for fellow-craftsmen that they won't accept from hoi polloi. Which made Camp more dangerous to Col. Smith than any dozen he had fired before. Camp started out to "get" Smith by appearing before the grand jury, and just barely failed to have him indicted. Camp then came to Chicago and proselyted support from the deaf, and from parents of pupils. He found willing cooperation from President C. C. Codman and Vice-president Mrs. W. McGann, of the alumni association; and from President Arthur L. Roberts of the powerful National Association of the Deaf. They addressed mass-meetings in the principal clubs, passing the hat for contributions to carry on the good work. The meeting at the Pas-a-Pas donated $68, the Silent A. C. $55, and from all over the state money rolled in to the tune of some $600. This was placed at the disposal of the camp of Camp, and his camp-meeting comrades.

After several months' hard work, traveling around the securing sworn affidavits and others proof which would hold in a court of law, the insurgents finally prepared a smashing expose for release, at an early date, in newspapers all over the state.

That settled it! Gov. Small and his cohorts evidently got wind of the coup, as I said before—and as I shall say again next summer—"Press IS power." The Governor had to act quick—and he did. The press clipping heading this column was the result.

Mrs. McGann was around heralding the glad tidings at the Silent A. C. on the 15th, and told the me to my face—while the worshipping multitude gazed in awe—told me just where I got off. "You never give us proper credit for what we do," she caustically accused this JOURNAL correspondent. "So, of course, you won't give us credit for this. So, since the gentle young lady so earnestly desires it, I can not do otherwise than to give her full credit."

Mrs. McGann, and the late C. C. Codman, and Arthur L. Roberts, and the venerated W. S. Camp—they are accorded full credit. Maybe, Editor Hodgson—out of the store-house of the past—can recall another instance when the deaf succeeded in securing removal of a superintendent who was in solid with the administration; I can't.

I. FREDERICK MEAGHER.

DETROIT.

Detroit chapter of the M. A. D. Business Meeting, Sunday, January 30th, 2:30 p. m. at G. A. R. Hall.

The Ladies Guild of St. John's Ephphatha Episcopal Mission held their first social for 1927 on January seventh. A good crowd turned up to enjoy the Oysters, which were served "a lay may style". One of the most pleasing features of the year was carried out in a tableaux at the Watch Night Party at the Detroit Association of the Deaf.

Mr. James Benner, the oldest honorary member of the D. A. D., acted as the old year, who grudging watched the lovers and was crowded off by W. Mosby's son, who acted as cupid, and danced around the lovers. As the clock struck twelve he announced the New Year to the lovers; they in turn relayed it to the filled hall and started the merry making. Over one hundred were present, including fifteen from Toledo.

Miss Sarah Sly, of Ypsilanti, who slipped and fell in her back yard in November, is still at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor. She is not improving as fast as her friends wish she might.

Mr. Adolph Kresin, of Port Huron, was a visitor in Detroit, January 9th, and called at the Detroit Fraternal Club.

Mrs. Fred Yankee (Mamie Marley), who has been ill for a long time, is failing rapidly.

A Pence has returned from a trip to Kentucky.

The Lotto Party at the D. A. D., January 8th, had a good crowd. The prizes drew many a laugh.

Mrs. Frank Allera, wife of the D. A. D. President, is under the care of a doctor. She is much missed by her friends at the club.

Russel Marshall is visiting his parents in London, Ontario.

John Hellers, treasurer at the D. A. D., is more than busy with long overtime hours at the Cadillac, shoveling snow and collecting money. We hope he does not lose in avoidrupois.

Edward Parsons and Clarence Kerbisch and wives were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Bourcier, Tuesday evening.

Gibbert Worley's Essex car was stolen from its parking place in front of the D. A. D. New Year's Night. So far the police have been unable to find any trace of it.

Mrs. Arthur Smith, of Ann Arbor, entertained, Mr. and Mrs. George Fletcher, Mrs. Fred Kaufman, Miss Mae Grennan, Mrs. Maybelle Chambers, of Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, of Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Behrendt and Miss Matilda Stark, of Detroit, on January 9th, in honor of her husband's natal day. After playing games, a six o'clock dinner was served, and then the Detroiters had to leave, wishing Mr. Smith many returns of the day.

The Detroit Fraternal Club had a magician at their social, January 8th. Among the stunts was getting out of a straightjacket, getting handcuffs off, and other things to many to mention.

On January 9th, twenty friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leach, where Mrs. Eunice pretty and useful gifts expressed the Stark was the guest of honor, and many givers' good wishes. Dainty refreshments were served and a very pleasant time was had by all.

Among the callers at the Watch Night Party at the Frat Club were Miss Helen Warsaw, of Cleveland; Jo. Abelson and Dennis Hannan, of Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Meyers, of Worthville.

To our many Detroit friends and others, who sent us Christmas and New Year's Greetings, we take this means of thanking all. Time forbids giving each an individual answer as we would like to do.
